

A.G. Williams Paints it Teal and Pink for Fall

Third-generation Pelham painting company donates portion of profits to Support Connection

Pelham, NY – (October 19, 2011) -- When people name traditional fall colors, they tend to call out browns, oranges, and golds. But at A.G. Williams Painting Company, teal and pink are this year's special fall colors. A.G. Williams will Paint it Teal in September in honor of National Ovarian Cancer Month and Paint it Pink October through December in honor of breast cancer awareness. As part of these campaigns, the company is donating a portion of its profits from paint jobs to Support Connection, a Westchester County-based not-for-profit organization that offers free, confidential support services to people nationwide who are affected by ovarian and breast cancer.

A.G. Williams believes that it is important to give back to the community. "Our focus this year is on breast and ovarian cancer, two diseases that affect so many people in Westchester County and southern Fairfield County," says Paul Viggiano, Director of Business Administration and Marketing at A.G. Williams. "Most of us know at least one person whose life has been changed by breast or ovarian cancer, and Support Connection does excellent work providing emotional, social and educational support services to women, their families and friends."

Customers who choose any color of paint, not just teal or pink, will be contributing to A.G. Williams' acknowledgement of the work of Support Connection. "We are deeply touched by the efforts of A.G. Williams to help us empower women and those affected by these two diseases to support each other and to advocate for their own health care," says Katherine Quinn, Executive Director of Support Connection.

A.G. Williams Painting Company encourages its customers and friends to become part of the A.G. Williams team for the 17th Annual Support A Walk on Sunday, October 2nd, at FDR Park in Yorktown. For more information, visit <http://www.supportconnection.org/learn-more.htm>.
